Do you like food? Do you like to Write?

“What peaches and what penumbras!
Whole families shopping at night!
Aisles full of husbands! Wives in the avocados, babies in the tomatoes!—and you, Garcia Lorca, what were you doing down by the watermelons?”

—Allen Ginsberg, “A Supermarket in California”

The Humanities Department of the School of Liberal Arts is holding a “food” writing contest.

- Open to all members of the Morrisville community
- Entries may be of any genre of writing (poetry, fiction, nonfiction)
- 1,000 words or less
- Must in some way incorporate food
- Think of healthy fast food, or rich soil, or a buffet, or that favorite dish your grandmother made; the theme has many options
- Will be judged by the creativity and originality of the writing.
- The first place winner will receive a $10.00 Gift card to the Copper Turret!

- Entries can be submitted via email or interoffice mail and must be submitted by Friday November 5th at 4:00. The winning entry will be presented on November 11 as part of the Field to Fork in Central NY viewing of Food, Inc.

Entries can be sent to gerkentw@morrisville.edu or sent to Dr. Timothy W. Gerken, 218 Crawford Hall. All entries must include a cover letter which has your name, contact information, and the title of the piece. Your name MUST NOT appear on the text itself. Email entries should must have “food writing” in the subject line.