Name Our New Dining Location and Win a Mountain Bike

Get your creative juices flowing! We have a new dining location, opening September 2, 2007, that needs a name!

It will be located to the right of Seneca’s main entrance and will carry a mix of items including sodas and other drinks, sandwiches, specials and snacks.

Are you coming up with some great names? Well, don’t keep them to yourself! Send them to: paulde@morrisville.edu by Friday, September 7, 2007.

The winner will be announced by September 14, 2007.

The person who comes up with the winning name will receive a free mountain bike, courtesy of Pepsi!

Don’t miss out on this contest! E-mail your entry soon!

Use of Human Subjects in Research

The college community is reminded that federal law, college policies and ethical behavior dictate that we guard the rights of humans who are involved in research efforts. This requires that we provide:

1. Respect for persons via informed consent
2. Beneficence via risk/benefit analysis
3. Justice via fair selection of human subjects

If you are planning any research that utilizes human subjects, you need to contact the Morrisville State College Institutional Review Board (IRB). Both the policies that apply and IRB Manual are on the “V” drive of your computer. All categories of review – exempt, expedited, or full – require an approved application. This is necessary to provide support for the investigator and the human subjects.

Please feel free to contact Shirley Crawford, chair, at ext. 6142 or crawfosa@morrisville.edu for help through the process. Allow a minimum of three weeks for the IRB to process your application for review.
