Melissa Carver, journalism technology major and programming director of WCVM, works on the Morrisville State College centennial video.
Art Show

The library is featuring an art display in the gallery with the work of Leigh Yardley, who teaches painting and drawing. Leigh’s work will be on display until September 26. An opening reception will be held on Friday, September 12 from 3 to 4:45 p.m. in the library.

Student Success Seminars

The Academic Enrichment Center (AEC) is sponsoring Student Success Seminars. The seminars will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at 1-1:50 p.m. in Crawford 114. Topics are geared toward helping students improve their ability to succeed and include time management, taking lecture notes, reading strategies, test-taking skills, study techniques, memorizing, improving vocabulary, learning styles, internships and career placement and alleviating test anxiety. Seminars will be facilitated by the following professional staff: Owen Corpin, Elizabeth Dana, Jessica DeStefano, Stephanie Lawhorne, John McBride, Patricia Samson, and David Symonds. For more information, contact Stephanie Lawhorne, director of academic support, at x 6360 or lawhorsl@morrisville.edu.

Tuesday, September 9 and Thursday, September 11 – Taking Notes, given by Stephanie Lawhorne

Over the summer, Morrisville-Eaton High School students presented an art show in the Butcher Library.

(Top) Works of Kirstie Fanning, former Morrisville-Eaton high school student, current Sage College of Albany fine arts and photography major.

(Middle) Works of Erin O’Hara, former Morrisville-Eaton high school student, current Mohawk Valley Community College fine arts major.

(Bottom) Works of current and former Morrisville-Eaton high school students hang in the Butcher Library.
Use of Human Subjects in Research

The college community is reminded that federal law, college policies and ethical behavior dictate that we guard the rights of humans who are involved in research efforts. (Any investigation where results are disseminated for general knowledge, via reports, publications, conference presentations, the Internet, etc. is defined as research by this law. In addition, the knowledge to be gained must deem the research to be worth doing.)

All human subjects must waive their right to privacy by volunteering to participate without being subjected to coercion. It they do decide to participate, they must first thoroughly understand the goals, risks and benefits of the research effort.

Confidentiality is also required so that the responses and results obtained cannot be linked to a specific participant.

If you are planning any research that utilizes human subjects, please contact the Morrisville State College Institutional Review Board (IRB). Both the policies that apply and IRB Manual are on the “V” drive of your computer. In the IRB manual, fill out Appendix D (one copy) and send it to Shirley Crawford, chair, at crawfosa@morrisville.edu or mail it to her at the Biology Department, Crawford Hall.
