Morrisville State College Library Features Photo Exhibit, "Art-at-War"

An exhibit, "Art-at-War," featuring photography by Antonio Leone is on display at the library through April 17. Leone, a freelance video designer and producer, has 12 photos featured in the library gallery.

"Antonio Leone’s photography show ‘Art-at-War’ addresses the conflict inherent in war, not only the obvious violence that soldiers have to face daily, but the conflict those of us at home face as we address our understandings of war," Tim Gerken, curator of the gallery, said.

Leone provides art viewers with a number of questions—explicitly in the artist’s statement and implicitly in the work—which ask them to consider their feelings and beliefs about war. Included in his photos are toy soldiers painted in a variety of vibrant colors.

Throughout his career, Leone has worked as a television animator/motion designer and was also art director for a major production design studio, Fat Box, Inc. in Redwood City, Calif. There he worked with the creative teams of gaming companies such as HP, Oracle, Siemens and XBOX and earned awards for best editing in non-linear systems and best animation.

An art director at ZONA Design, Inc., a New-York based full design agency, Leone worked on projects for companies that included The History Channel, Discovery Channel, Discovery Health Channel, ESPN, Sci-Fi Channel, HBO, and SKY Italy. He was also a consultant design director at Time Warner Cable’s headquarters in New York City.

Leone is currently working as a consultant for Time Warner Cable and ZONA Design, Inc.

The exhibit is being co-sponsored by Morrisville State College’s School of Liberal Arts and the Sheila Johnson Institute.

Winter Fest

The third annual Winter Fest was held on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Cornell Cooperative Extension Building and the Edward R. Andrews Elementary School ball fields, and with more than 300 participants, was a huge success. There were many indoor and outdoor activities for everyone. Although, there could have been a little more snow, sledding was still possible. A bonfire blazed keeping participants warm and there was plenty of free food, including chili, hot cocoa and cookies.

Events for winter fest included indoor games such as Uno, Sorry, Jenga, Apples to Apples, Dominos, Checkers and Wii Games. Outdoor events kept everyone busy with cross country skiing, snowshoeing and sledding. The Ice Plex also offered free ice skating and skate rentals.

Winter Fest is sponsored by the Campus/Community Committee, Gamers' Guild, Outdoor Recreation Club, WCVM Media, Morrisville Auxiliary Corporation, Morrisville Crouse Community Center, Morrisville Ice Plex, The Fort and Morrisville Fire Department
