

More Questions...

Can I "squat" or keep my current room?

No "squatting" will be allowed in any hall.

Can I select a room after April 15th?

Remaining options will be available at the RD offices starting on April 19th until May 14th. Students paying the deposit late or selecting late have fewer choices and risk being placed into overflow housing.

How do I know what my point total is?

All students who have paid their $100 deposit, will be notified of their point total via their mailboxes between April 6th and 9th. Roommate pairs may use the higher of their two point totals when selecting a room.

What if I don't have a roommate?

For students that don't have a roommate, but would like to select a double or triple room, the Office of Residence Life will maintain a list of students looking for roommates until May 14th. Students needing a roommate are responsible for adding their name to the list, reviewing others on the list and contacting each other to make arrangements to become roommates. After May 14th, Residence Life staff will consolidate people without roommates into double rooms.

What if I cannot attend room selection?

Do not miss class to participate in room selection. If you are unable to attend the Room Selection nights, you may have someone participate for you by giving them a proxy form. The proxy form is available from the Residence Life Office or your RD office. If your chosen proxy does not have the proxy card, they can not chose a room for you.

Can I get my deposit back if I change my mind?

The housing deposit is non-refundable except when the following circumstances occur:

- You cancel your College Housing License on or before June 30, 2010 because you will not be returning to Morrisville State College.
- If you choose to live off campus, a written request with supporting documentation proving your request must be received in the Residence Life Office on or before June 30, 2010.

There are no refunds after June 30, 2010

Frequently Asked Questions

What is room selection?

Room selection is the process by which students choose college housing for the 2010-2011 academic year. Students select a room according to a point total. Students earn points based on GPA and number of credits completed. Points are deducted based on judicial standing. Students with higher point totals go through room selection first.

What do I do first?

Any student who wants college housing for next year must pay a $100 housing deposit, which will be credited toward next year's bill. Students pay their deposit at Student Accounts in Whipple Admin Building, on the 4th floor. Deposits can be paid between February 1st and April 2nd. Although late deposits will be accepted, those late deposit students will not be allowed to choose a room until April 19th, after Room Selection.

What if I cannot pay or require special housing?

Please contact the Office of Residence Life before April 2nd if you require special housing accommodations. If you are unable to pay your deposit but desire college housing for next year, you must come to the Office of Residence Life to discuss your options before April 2nd. EOP students are still required to go to the Student Accounts office to confirm their status and receive a waiver for their housing deposit.

Are there any restrictions?

- Students choosing a room during selection without a roommate (for example, 1 person in a double) will either have someone they don't know choosing that space during Selection or Residence Life will assign someone to fill that room.
  - If a roommate does not return, another student will be assigned to that space.
  - Rooms will be reserved for incoming freshman and will not be part of Selection.
- For the Commons, groups of 4 students who will be staying the entire academic 2010-2011 year will be given preference in selection. Remaining spaces will be available after Selection. Look for special Commons publications.

Can I change my room after Selection?

No changes will be allowed after you have selected your room until the room freeze ends 2 weeks after Fall opening.
